

Scholarships

The scholarship system endeavors to equalize educational opportunities and encourage learning by providing support to students for whom schooling is economically difficult and by providing incentives for students achieving superior academic performance. You can check invitations for applications for scholarships handled by our university on the Student Affairs Office website's scholarships pages (university website top page ⇒ Campus Life / Job Placement Assistance ⇒ Scholarship ⇒ Scholarship).

Scholarship guide materials are distributed at the Student Affairs Division counter, which also handles inquiries and counseling concerning scholarships. (The guide is also posted to the Student Affairs Office website.) Students in need of assistance because of a sudden change in their family's economic situation (the unemployment, long-term hospitalization, convalescence, death, or disaster-victim-status of the chief breadwinner) should consult with the Student Affairs Division as necessary.

In the submission of applications please strictly observe the prescribed deadlines and office operating hours.

◆ Application procedures

It is necessary to meet standards for all of these: (1) academic ability; (2) family finances; and (3) family assets. Please check the Student Affairs Office website for details. In principle, applications are accepted from enrolled students in the spring semester (April) and fall semester (September), but if your income suddenly decreases to a level equivalent to that of a household exempt from inhabitant taxes due to a change in the economic situation of your livelihood maintainer, you can apply at any time, even in the middle of the academic year. If you are applying due to a sudden change in your family's economic situation, you need to apply within three months from the time of the cause of that change, so please consult with the Student Affairs Division of your campus without delay.

■ Scholarships offered by local public-sector organizations and private-sector scholarship foundations

There are various types of scholarships offered by prefectures, cities, towns and villages to students who are resident there or were born there. Private-sector scholarship foundations also offer scholarships for various purposes. Essential application information for such scholarships will be posted on the Student Affairs Office website and bulletin boards as soon as it is received by the university.

There are also cases in which students directly apply for scholarships without going through the university. In such cases it is important to directly contact the relevant organization, such as the Board of Education, city hall, etc. of your hometown or current place of residence, or collect information on the Internet, etc.

Student Affairs Division handles inquiries concerning scholarships.
